From Proficient to Expert

BACKGROUND

EURACT has been providing teaching courses for several years and developed the Level 1, 2 and 3 courses for trainers in Family Medicine.

It has become apparent that there is a need to unify current knowledge of GP/FM training, current approaches and existing expertise, through developing a new high quality conceptual framework in Europe. This framework in the future would be expected to guide the development of GP/FM educators and set the basic standards for training the trainers at different levels. It should also provide a sustainable background for the harmonization of GP/ FM training throughout Europe.

The framework is based on an expertise model for general practice teachers, with the aim of facilitating progression from novice to expert by targeted courses.

WHAT IS THE LEVEL 3 PROGRAMME?

It is a programme designed to help develop proficient educators (e.g. university lecturers, training programme organisers, experienced trainers) to the level of educational experts, with the capability of enhancing their own educational expertise and provide skills training for future GP teachers. Those who progress to this highest level will be expected to pertain a European teaching skills programme, ensuring that it is cascaded beyond the original partner organizations to other European countries. The methods used in this project will promote a common European approach and a harmonised delivery of the GP training curriculum. During this programme, participants will work with their peers from other European countries and gain an understanding of the advantages of such a common European approach. Programme members will need the support of an academic institution and will need to have an identified educational supervisor.

The programme is structured in the same way as a Masters module, with the time spent in self-directed study, supported by three days of course work over two parts separated by several months.

HOW WAS THE PROGRAMME DEVELOPED?

The programme was developed by a small working group in EURACT, and then subjected to critical review by EURACT Council.

The members of the development group were Dr. Egle Zebiene, Professor Igor Svab, and Professor Justin Allen. The first Level 3 course was originated in Portugal and was held between December 2011 and June 2012. The second one took place in Malta and Thessaloniki (Greece) between October 2017 and June 2018. This one will now be the third Level 3 course and will be hosted by Israel, in Tel-Aviv for the first part and online for the second part.
