

Applying Discount Codes in Submission Portal for Full OA Journals

This guide is for authors who are entitled to a waiver or discount on their Article Publishing Charge (APC) in a full Open Access journal and have been provided a discount code for their submission. This will normally be because the author is a society member, is publishing in a sponsored special issue or has been commissioned to write for the journal. Authors entitled to waivers and discounts via our developing country programme should follow the workflows outlined on our Author Services website.

This guide starts at the 'Charges' page during an author's submission & assumes that authors have accurately entered their information up to this point.
